What Can Cuticura Do

For Baby's Skin, Scalp, and Hair

Everything that is cleansing, purifying, and beautifying for the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children, the Cuticura Remedies will do. They afford instant relief, and a speedy cure in the most agonizing of itching and burning eczemas. They clear the skin of the most distressing of scaly, crusted, pimply, and blotchy humors. They cleanse the scalp of dandruff, scales, and crusts, destroy microscopic insects which feed on the hair, and supply the roots with energy and nourishment. They prevent inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of pimples, blackheads, rashes, red, rough, and oily skin. They heal rough, chapped, and fissured hands, with itching, burning palms, painful finger-ends, and remove the cause of shapeless nails.

Thus, from the simplest baby blemish to the most torturing and disfiguring diseases of the skin and scalp, even when complicated with hereditary or scrofulous taints, these great skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies are equally successful. Everything about them invites confidence. They are absolutely pure, and may be used on the youngest infant. They are agreeable to the most refined and sensitive. They are speedy, economical, and unfailing.

"All about the Skin, Scalp, and Hair" mailed free to any address, 64 pages, 300 Diseases, 50 Illustrations, and 100 Testimonials. A book of priceless value to every sufferer.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The Senate Extends the Chinese Exclusion Laws.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 19. The Senate has passed the bill extending for ten years, the operation of the Chinese exclusion laws.

The Tariff Question to be Brought Up in the House In a Few Days.

It was announced today to be the intention of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee to call up the tariff question in the House early in the week after next. This programme would to some extent defer the consideration of the silver question, for the silver bill cannot be taken up and got out of the way in advance of that time. The announcement of the purpose to call up the tariff question about the first of March was made in the Way and Means Committee to-day at a brief session of the full committee.

An agreement was reached among the members of the Committee that the minority should have until a week from to-morrow to prepare their reports against the three bills. The wool, binding twine and bagging measures heretofore ordered were favorably reported to the House by a party vote. Chairman Springer then announced it was intended to call up one of the three bills on Monday or Tuesday following the submission of the reports to the House. No objection was manifested on the part of Republicans to this course.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Twelve Hundred Carpenters on a Strike.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19. The strike of carpenters against Contractor Downey because he employs cabinet makers to do carpenter's work at cabinet maker's wages, is still on. About 400 men in different trades were called out on the strike this morning, in addition to those who struck yesterday. There are now about 1,200 men out.

NEW YORK STEAMSHIP CO.

Affairs Wound up by a Sheriff's Sale.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19. The affairs of the New York Steamship Company, 63 Broadway, were wound up yesterday by a sheriff's sale of all available property, consisting mainly of office furniture and supplies, to satisfy the judgment brought by H. H. Warner, President of the Company for money advanced. The New York Steamship Company was organized about two years ago by Nathaniel L. Newcomb to run freight and passenger steamers between New York and ports in Maine and Nova Scotia. It was capitalized for $250,000. The company put but one steamer at work. It has run no steamer at all since last October. Some of the original stockholders intend to combine and put another company in operation probably under the same name.

THE GRIP.

Playing Havoc with the Cherokees.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., Feb. 19. The grip is playing havoc with the Cherokees just east of the Osage agency. The trouble seems to be that they pay no attention to it and do not give up and go to bed until too late.

LAWSON AND CONLEY FIGHT.

The Latter Knocked Out in the Seventh Round.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 19. Five hundred people witnessed a fight at the Pastime Club last night between James Lawson, the colored lightweight champion of Australia, and Conley, of Boston, which resulted in victory for the former in the seventh round, as his opponent quit. The event was preceded by a sensational challenge by George La Blanche, the Marine, who agreed to knock out all comers in four rounds for a purse of $25. The challenge was accepted by a child, a 175 pound negro, of this city, who knocked the Marine out in the third round and he was carried from the ring helpless.

THE WHISKEY TRUST.

A Syndicate Trying to Get Control of Breweries in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19. The Times this morning says: "The Whiskey Trust is backing a syndicate which will endeavor to secure control of all the breweries in Chicago not belonging to the English syndicate. It is probable that with all the breweries in the hands of two big combinations, the price will be raised, and there will be no cutting and little competition.

AN OUTLAW

Captured and Hanged by his Captors.

MIDDLEBORO, Ky., Feb. 19. Berry Turner, a noted outlaw was mortally wounded here yesterday, while attempting to escape capture. He was then hanged by his captors.

BLAINE DIVORCE CASE

Will Probably be Reached Saturday.

DEADWOOD, S. D., Feb. 19. Contrary to expectation, last night, it now appears improbable that the Blaine divorce case will be reached to-day. The Court was occupied during most of the forenoon with a railroad case, and it will continue during the afternoon. The Blaine case will, therefore, have to go over. Judge Palmer, plaintiff's attorney, seems confident, however, that it will be reached to-morrow. The morning delay is said not to be displeasing to Mrs. Blaine, who passed a bad night and is little better than she was yesterday. It is believed she will have recovered sufficiently to appear in Court to-morrow.

NEW YORK LEGISLATURE.

An Amendment to World's Fair Bill Adopted.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 19. An amendment to the World's Fair bill directing that the New York State exhibit hall be closed Sunday, was adopted in the Assembly, to-day, by a vote of 49 to 47. Motion to lay bill on the table was carried 51 to 41.

HON. CHARLES FOSTER.

To Make our Extended Trip For His Health.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 19. Hon. Chas. Foster, secretary of treasury will leave for Europe next Wednesday on an extensive trip for his health.

TWO BARGES COLLIDE.

One of Them Sunk—Cargo a Total Loss.

STAMFORD, Conn., Feb. 19. The steam barge John Long and Consort, bound for Stamford, collided off Greenwich Point, with unknown coal barges at 4 a. m. The Long headed for the shore and sunk. The cargo will probably be a total loss.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The Case of John Hurley.

BOSTON, Feb. 19. The complaint against Motorman John Hurley for causing the death of Ellen Scanlon, by running her down with an electric car, of which he was in charge, on Hanover street, December 5, was dismissed to-day. The inquest showed no criminal negligence on the part of Hurley, but great carelessness on the part of the victim.

Found Dead.

Miss Lucy Duffy, aged 60, was found dead this morning in her room 1,660 Washington street. She was a dressmaker and when discovered, the body was seated at a sewing machine, [illegible] resting upon it. Gas was escaping in full force. The death resulted from asphyxiation. [illegible]

SUFFERING AMONG THE POOR.

Hundreds of Families Dying from Starvation in Mexico.

Durango Thronged with People Appealing for Aid.

DURANGO, Mex., Feb. 19. There is no decrease in the suffering among the poor people of this city. The drought has been partially broken, but the supply of food has become so low that hundreds of families are actually starving. A number of deaths have occurred, recently, from that cause.

A large quantity of corn which the Governor contracted for in the United States, is arriving very slowly, less than 75,000 bushels having so far been delivered and distributed here. It is estimated that fully 200,000 bushels of corn are required at the present time to alleviate the suffering. The streets of Durango are thronged with beggars who make pitiful appeals to the upper classes for aid.

FIRE RECORD.

A $100,000 Fire at Cleveland, Ohio.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 19. The dry goods emporium of the E. M. McGillum Co., was burned last night; loss $100,000.

Barn Burned, Including 22 Horses, two Cows and 20 Tons of Hay.

WOODSVILLE, N. H., Feb. 19. A barn belonging to H. E. Richardson was burned in Bethlehem, N. H., last night with twenty-two horses, two cows and twenty tons of hay. Loss $5,000; insured.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Criminal Matters at Dover.

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 19. Henry L. Hanscom, pleaded guilty, this morning, of larceny of silverware, and was given 30 days in the County jail, and ordered to pay costs. Michael Burns for assault on Michael Carr, got 30 days, and Wm. H. Carr er was sentenced to 5 months imprisonment for assaulting John A. Lee.

BUSINESS FAILURES.

Record for the Past Week.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19. Business failures throughout country the past seven days as reported to R. G. Dun & Co., and E. Burpee & Co. Mercantile agency, by telegraph, number for the United States, 251; Canada, 48, total, 299; compared with 276 last week and 319 the week previous.

SENTENCED AND FINED.

For Keeping a Notorious Resort.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19. Tom Stevenson, manager of the "Slide", a notorious resort at 157 Bleecker street, was to-day sentenced one year in the penitentiary and pay a fine of $500. This is an extreme penalty.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Leading London Papers on Balfour's Irish Government Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 19. Commenting on Balfour's Irish local government bill, the Telegraph says it confesses will regret that those who would fain have supported the bill found nothing to say in its defence. It adds, "We are bound to admit the bill is in no sense a fulfillment of government pledges. Safeguarding claims are all open to more or less objection and one, at least, is provocative of positive ridicule. The government cannot deny that they have offered Ireland something signally inferior to that given the rest of the Kingdom. If she deserves nothing better they were wrong in introducing the bill and cannot escape the obvious dilemma in which they have placed themselves." The Liberals believe the bill was only introduced to be abandoned and that it will never get through the committee."

The Liberal and National newspapers are out in full cry against the Irish local government bill which they cover with ridicule.

The Pall Mall Gazette hopes for Mr. Balfour's sake that the rumor that he opposed it is true. The contents it says, are stupid, the omissions stupid and most stupid was the moment chosen to introduce it.

The Star says some people bowed, some kicked and others laughed at the bill. It is of the opinion that Balfour's dejection lately was owing to his travailing at the birth of such a ridiculous measure. The Irish nationalist papers bitterly denounce the bill while the Tory papers give it a lukewarm support.

What the Dublin Press Says About the Bill.

DUBLIN, Feb. 19. The Irish Times Union says the bill appeals to the wisdom of the House of Commons.

The Freeman's Journal (Home Rule) declares the bill is a legislative joke.

The Irish Daily Independent (Parnellite) says the measure is a sham and a fraud.

The National Press (McCarthyite) says the measure is a beggarly account of meaningless provisions, like the Japanese toy, consisting of a succession of empty boxes one within the other.

Order Restored.

LONDON, Feb. 19. An official despatch from Rio Janeiro states that order has been restored in Ceara, from which State reports of trouble came yesterday. The disturbances were simply of a local character and no importance attaches to them.

A Bad State of Affairs.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 19. The German Colony, in the Province of Orenberg, is in a condition of utter collapse. Owing to famine and typhus, the colonists are unable to build houses, and they have huddled together after a fashion of half savage races, among whom they undertook to form a settlement. Typhus attacked the colony with peculiar virulence, which is thought surprising, as it was supposed the cleanly habits of the Germans might exempt them from the scourge.

Mr. Deacon Arraigned for Shooting Mr. Abeille.

CONNOR, Feb. 19. Mr. Deacon, who surrendered to police immediately after shooting M. Obeilles was today examined by magistrate in charge of case. Deacon was calm and collected and gave very succinct account of the incidents that led up to the killing of Abeide.

He declared it was not his intention to kill Abeille, but only to wound him. Deacon asked the magistrate to admit him to bail. The Magistrate declined to do so at once, but promised to consider the application. In the meantime he will remain in prison. Mrs. Deacon was then examined. The told a story which confirmed that of her husband. The whole riviera is discussing the case and from information that reaches here it can readily be judged that Mr. Deacon's action in shooting his wife's paramour, meets with general commendation.

Yellow Fever Epidemic.

PANAMA, Feb. 19. Consul General Sansby, who has arrived from Guayaquil, Ecuador, reports a yellow fever epidemic there and it is assuming the most alarming proportions.

DOWN THE BAY.

Interesting Mention of Events in Rockland.

The Public Library--Reports of the City Officers for the Past Year--Changes in School Department--The Y. M. C. A.--Mayor Butler Asked to Run Again.

[Special Correspondence Whig and Courier.]

ROCKLAND, Feb. 19. The snow storm of last week was the severest for years, and the heaviest fall of snow, and being accompanied with a high wind, the streets of the city were badly blocked. It was several days before the natural travel on some of them was resumed, although a large crew of men and horses was engaged in opening them.

The active canvass for membership in the Rockland Public Library Association, which has been delayed for some time on account of the prevailing sickness, has been commenced by the young ladies of the Shakespeare Club, and with a promise of good success. It is hoped that a membership of not less than two thousand may be obtained.

The final meeting of the City Council for the year was held Monday evening, the 15th inst., for the purpose of receiving the reports of the various city officials, and from those reports there was gleaned the following:

City Treasurer.

Total receipts for the year	$340,347 15
Total disbursements	322,083 82
Balance in Treasury	18,463 33
Total liabilities of the city	823,158 73
Total resources of the city	468,970 28
Net city debt	354,188 45
This is a reduction for the year just closed of	3,391 11

Road Commissioner.

Expended on streets	$7,222 50
Expended on sidewalks	1,727 34
Expended on permanent sidewalks	3,947 83
Permanent street improvements	7,947 82
Sewers	7,553 71
Total expenditure	$27,938 96

The Chief Engineer of the Fire Department reports twenty fires the past year, and that the department is in effective condition and sufficient for all ordinary demands. One new electric fire alarm box has been added the past year, on the corner of Grace and Broad streets.

E. and S. H. Burpee, city undertakers, for the year ending February 10, have superintended 181 interments, of which 44 were non-residents. Of the number 96 were males, 85 were females, 166 American born, 11 Irish, 1 each, Scotch, Canadian, Italian and Nova Scotian. Five were over 90 years of age; 18 were between 80 x 90. 21 were between 70 and 80 years of age; 40 were between 60 and 70 years of age; 28 were between 50 and 60 years of age, making a total of 115, or nearly two-thirds of the whole number of deaths of persons over fifty years old. The number of deaths was six less than 1890, and but eight more than in 1891.

Several changes in the school department were made at the commencement of the school year. Mr. Levi Turner, Jr., who has been the efficient superintendent for two and a half years, tendered his resignation to the school board near the close of the last school year, or rather declined to accept another election, which made it necessary to secure the services of a successor, and Mr. Fred C. Russell, of Lovell, Me., was elected to the position, and this far has given good satisfaction. Mr. Jefferson Taylor, principal of the High school, during the summer vacation, was elected to, and accepted a professorship in, Chaffey College. Ontario, California, and the vacancy in the high school was filled by the promotion of the sub master, Mr. A. C. Dresser, of Standish, Mr. Harrie De F. Smith, of Gardiner, Bowdoin, '91 was elected sub-master. Several other minor changes have been made during the year.

The City Marshal reports the whole number of arrests for the year to be 238. Of that number 195 was for drunkenness and 34 for selling intoxicating liquors, making a total of 220 arrests, or about 77 per cent. of the entire number in consequence of the iniquitous liquor traffic. On search and seizure process 345 gallons of liquor have been taken and destroyed.

Exercises appropriate to the sixth anniversary of the organization of the Rockland Y. M. C. A., were held at the First Baptist church, Sunday evening, the 14th inst. An eloquent and forcable address was delivered by Rev. J. H. Parshley, the popular pastor of that church, to a large and appreciative audience, which completely filled the church and vestry. In every respect it has been the most successful year since its organization. The report of the treasurer, A. W. Butler, shows the total receipts for the year to have been $3,604.55; total disbursements, $2,597.48. Shortly after the organization of the Association in 1886, a two-story wooden building on Limerock street, near Main, was purchased of the heirs of Oliver Berry, which contained three stores on the first floor and a tenement on the second. An additional story was put on, and necessary changes made on the second floor to convert it into desirable quarters for the Association. A mortgage indebtedness of $5,500 was incurred in the purchase and repairs of the building, which has been steadily reduced from year to year, until now it is only $2,850. It is the object of the Board of Managers to apply not less than five hundred dollars each year in liquidation of the debt. An annual rental of something more than six hundred dollars is received from the stores, which is mostly applied to the payment of the debt. The average daily attendance at the rooms has been seventy-six; attendance at young men's meetings, 44; kilns visited by young men from the Association, 1,297; kiln men met by these visits, 2,889; sailors visited, 1,975; papers distributed to kiln men and sailors, 6,328. Books added to the library the past year, 875. The library now numbers 1,020 standard books, and as it is circulating, the books can be taken to the home of the family of each member, which makes it a very attractive feature of the institution.

At a meeting of the Board of Managers, Tuesday, the 16th inst., George M. Brainerd was unanimously elected president of the Association for another year. This is his third election to the position, which certainly reflects credit on his good management. Being one of our most successful business men, in whom all put perfect confidence, enables him to accomplish more for the Association, especially from a financial point, than many others equally enthusiastic would be able to accomplish. church on Wednesday evening. The meeting was addressed by Rev. J. H. Parshley. Singing by a chorus from the Y. W. C. T. U. The object of the meeting was to raise funds. One half of the proceeds go to replenish the somewhat depleted exchequer of the State organization and the other half to the local Treasury.

The Epworth League of Pratt Memorial M. E. church will celebrate its second anniversary at the church on Sunday evening, the 22d. An entertaining musical programme will be presented.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Wright, of the Crosby Inn, Belfast, have leased their house on Middle street to Col. W. H. Fogler, who, with his wife, will occupy it soon.

The administration of Mayor E. A. Butler has been so successful that his fellow-citizens to the number of 135, petition him to again consent to be a candidate for another term. At the close of this municipal year he will have served his two terms, which has been the usual custom for years, but this desire on the part of his fellow-citizens to honor him with a third term is a flattering recognition of the efficient service which he has rendered to the city as chief executive the past two years.

Col. E. D. Carver, of this city, will deliver the Memorial Address at Waldoboro on Memorial day.

The directors of the Rockland Loan and Building Association have elected the following officers for the year: President, Samuel Bryant; Secretary, E. K. Gould; Treasurer, Leander Weeks; Attorney, J. E. Sherman; Finance Committee, F. C. Knight, G. S. Farrand, W. S. White; Auditor, E. M. Stubbs.

Modern Witchcraft in Salem.

During a recent rainstorm in Salem, Mass., electricity played some queer pranks at Porter's market. On the roof of the building is a clothesline. During the storm a towel blew from this line and lodged upon an electric lighting wire below. Being wet it wound around the wire and the electricity passed through it and shot down into the ground, where it came in contact with the water pipes leading into the building.

It ran along the pipes, and the first thing it encountered in the basement was a pot of hot lard, which was boiling on the stove. The lard was illuminated and the young man in charge thought it must be burning. He started to remove it from the stove and received a shock that sent him against the basement walls.

Pale with fright he rushed up stairs, where a fellow workman, noting his pallor, reached for the water faucet to get a glass of water. No sooner had he touched the faucet than he had occasion to pick himself up from a far corner of the room.

For a few moments everything seemed turned into an electric battery. The nails in the wall became red, electricity flew from the water pipes and flashed around the bands on the water pails.

At length some one found the cause of the trouble and the towel was removed. —Portland Transcript.

Misdirected Enterprise.

The constant improvement of burglars' tools is hardly an uglier adjunct of modern civilization than the rapid progress in the variety and ingenuity of food adulterations. Eggs and apples, almost alone, are still above suspicion. Cloves, tea, ground coffee, vanilla, lemon juice and mustards are nearly as frequently imitated as dairy butter. Cheese is filled with lard, and lard with cornmeal. The abolition of sugar duties has failed to stop the traffic in glucose. Candy factories use terra alba by tons. With an admixture of an extract from hickory buds and ginger common treacle can be made to resemble maple syrup sufficiently close to fool nine out of ten nonspecialists.

"Flavoring extracts" are made from such things as wood vinegar and coal tar, but the meanest tricks are those practised by the venders of honey. A vile compound of glucose and stearic acid is poured into factory made combs and sold in dainty wooden frames, which in one case were found to consist of ligneous pasteboard—a triple combination of frauds paralleled only in a certain sample of "mustard," which an analyst found to be a compound of four different ingredients, two of which had, so to express it, been subadulterated.—Philadelphia Times.

Between 12,000 and 15,000 barrels of herring were taken recently in a single night at Sound island, on the coast of Newfoundland.

A New Catholic church will be erected at Benedicta in the spring, at a cost of about $10,000. Bishop Healey has sent Rev. E. J. McAuley to take charge of this parish in place of Rev. Father Carens, who resigned because of poor health.

The Houlton Times says: One of the best lectures ever delivered in Houlton was given by Prof. J. S. Sewall, of Bangor, at Music Hall Monday evening. Prof. Sewall was a member of Commodore Perry's famous expedition to Japan, and the vessel on which he was serving, the Saratoga, was commissioned to bring to Honolulu the precious treaty from that beautiful Island and its strange people. There was a good sized audience present and it is safe to say that no speaker ever held an audience with more rapturous attention or intense interest than did Prof. Sewall in delivering his scholarly and eloquent lecture on The Adventures of the Japan Expedition.

Hon. George E. Macomber, prime mover in the proposed electric railroad through Rockland to Camden, tells the Courier-Gazette that it will be a complete railroad and will carry freight and mail as well as passengers. Closed freight cars will be used and every accommodation had by a steam road will be given. Furthermore, this will give to Maine the honor of having the first complete electric road in the country.

There were sixty panes of glass in one of the windows of an old Rockland meeting-house.

Wallace Howard, of this town, "ain't no saint," says the Monson Slate, neither is he exactly a Jim Hudson, but he may go down in his history as the same type of man, for on Saturday of last week he saved Henry Grover's life, although he managed to preserve his own as well. These two were at Greenwood pond, fishing, with Fred and Johnnie Douglas. The big snowstorm came on and Howard and Grover decided to go on foot, via the C. P. P. track, to Onaway station and take the first western bound train for Greenville and come home by train. It was six o'clock in the chilly and frosty morning. They were about half-way across the Greenwood trestle, which is some five hundred feet in length, when they were surprised by a western bound train, thundering along at a rate of thirty-five or forty miles an hour. Instantly they decided to go back a few steps to a place where they could secure their safety, which place they had noticed as they passed along. In doing so Mr. Grover fell and broke his leg. Then they were in as deep peril as two men could well be. The rushing, roaring train, meaning to them destruction and death, was close upon them and act on must be instant and decisive or would be lost. They were on the brink of eternity. Snow and frost were everywhere, on the steel rails and in the air. Clouds of snow were between them and the deadly engine and no engineer could possibly have discovered their danger. Mr. Grover implored Wallace to save his own life and leave him to his fate, but Wallace persisted in pushing, tumbling and dragging him a short distance to a place where they were about four feet from the terrible train of cars. As they reached their goal, the rushing train whirled by them and as near as they can now reckon, they had just about one minute of margin between life on this earth and an awful death. Then Wallace returned to camp and secured help. Mr. Grover was taken to Onaway and then to Henderson, where he was attended by the C. P. R. physician and was brought home by the train the same afternoon. He is now under the care of Dr. Harding and is as comfortable as could be expected under the circumstances.

Washington.

The Eastport Sentinel says: Some time ago there was a very peculiar fish caught in a weir near Jonesport, which Mr. N. M. Parker, of the firm of Stimpson & Parker, of this place, brought here and left at the counting-room of S. B. Hume & Son. The fish was placed in a bottle filled with alcohol and attracted much attention from those who saw it, none of whom had ever seen one like it. The fish was about as large in diameter as a carpenter's pencil, the body being covered with bony plates like a coat of mail. Mr. Charles Hume, after consulting a treatise on ichthyology, came to the conclusion that the specimen was a pipe fish, a fish seldom found so far north as they are natives of tropical seas, usually, though there are species of it to be found in the waters of Long Island Sound. This specimen was sent to the Fisheries Commission at Washington, D. C., and in the letter acknowledging its receipt they say Mr. Hume was correct and that the specimen was an unusually fine one of the soft-rayed bony fishes known as "Great Pipe-fish," Syngnathus acus. It may be of interest to Sentinel readers to know more of this strange fish that had strayed to such a distance from its native haunts. The authority from which the above facts were gleaned, states that a remarkable peculiarity in several species of the pipe fish is the existence in the males of two long and soft membranes which fold together and form an abdominal pouch, in which the eggs are carried about until they are hatched, and into which the young retreat in case of danger. Fishermen assert that when the young are shaken out of this receptacle into the water over the side of the boat, they do not swim away, but when the parent fish is held in the water in a favorable position, the young return to the retreat which nature has provided for them. Another and very singular species of the pipe fish is the Hippocampus or Hudson River Seahorse. This species is five or six inches in length, the jaws are united and tubular, the head has considerable resemblance to that of the horse, the eyes move independently of each other and it is believed to be the only fish which has a prehensile tail, when swimming about it maintains a vertical position, but the tail, ready to grasp whatever it meets in the water, quickly entwines around the weeds; and when the animal is thus fixed, it intently watches the surrounding objects and darts at its prey with great dexterity.

afresh. Dr. Pease amputated an inch of the bone, and it healed. Four years later it once more opened, and for eight years how I suffered! I do not believe it possible for a human being to suffer worse agony. During this time I had to go on crutches, being unable to wear a wooden leg. Whenever possible I relieved my sufferings by taking opiate, but when I was obliged to go without it, I suffered fearfully and thought I should go crazy. I tried every thing I could get with my limited means. Physicians said I would never be any better. Finally my and it broke out all over my face and on some parts of my body so that my face is all covered with scars now. One day I read of what Hood's Sarsaparilla would do. The first dollar I got I sent and bought a bottle and began taking it. A week or two later my wife in dressing my leg, said it seemed to be improving, and after taking a few months, thank God (and I say it reverently), the sores all over my body had healed, and now, four years later, have never shown any sign of reappearing." GEORGE M. HAMMOND, 219 Magnolia Street, Syracuse, N. Y.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1892.

A Republican State Convention

—WILL BE HELD IN—

NOROMBEGA HALL, BANGOR,

Wednesday, April 27, 1892,

At 11 O'clock A. M.,

for the purpose of selecting two candidates for electors of President and Vice President of the United States and four delegates at large and four alternates to attend the National Convention to be held at Minneapolis, Minnesota, on Tuesday, June 7, 1892, and transacting any other business that may properly come before it.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each City, Town and Plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each seventy five votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1888, an additional delegate, and for a fraction of forty votes in excess of seventy five votes, an additional delegate.

Vacancies in the delegation of any City, Town or Plantation can only be filled by residents of the County in which the vacancy exists.

The State Committee will be in session in the reception room of the Hall at nine o'clock on the morning of the Convention for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates. Delegates, in order to be eligible to participate in the convention, must be elected subsequent to the date of the call for this Convention, and delegates under this call should not be elected to the State Convention to be hereafter called for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor.

All electors of Maine, without regard to past political differences, who are in sympathy with the sentiments expressed in the call of the Republican National Committee for the Republican National Convention are cordially invited to unite with the Republicans of the State in electing delegates to this Convention.

Per order, Republican State Committee.
JOSEPH H. MANLEY, Chairman.
E. F. SOUTHARD, Secretary.

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 1, 1892.

Congressman Kilgore, of Texas, has been quoted as a Hill man, but he now declares that in his judgment Hill cannot be elected if he is nominated. Some of the numerous predictions that are now being made by the Democrats may be interesting reading after the convention.

Prominent men all over the country have signed a call for a mass convention in Washington, March 1, 1892, to protest against free coinage as proposed by Mr. Springer. This is only the first of the series to concentrate its opposition to the policy of coddling and muddling the [illegible]

Boss Hill not only pays no attention to the protest against his "snap convention" but he continues to capture delegates in the Empire State in a manner that makes the Mugwumps wild with rage. Of the delegates thus far chosen, as between Hill and Cleveland, the ratio is about twenty to one in favor of the former. What the Chicago Convention will do is a question, but Hill will have the solid support of the delegation from his own State is now assured.

The report of the Brooklyn Department of Buildings for 1891 pays an unconscious tribute to the McKinley bill which, however, is not referred to directly or indirectly. It shows that during 1891, the year following the passage of the bill, that no less than 276 factories and workshops were erected or projected. This is the largest number in the history of Brooklyn, which ranks third as a manufacturing center. One of the factories will be devoted to the manufacture of tin and five hundred men will be employed in it. During 1890, before the McKinley bill was passed, 31 factories and 109 workshops were projected or built. The increase of 1891 over that of 1890 was sixty-three workshops and factories.

Just now the country is receiving striking testimony of the danger to follow Democratic rule. The particularly significant fact is that the witnesses are themselves Democrats. That the great majority of the party is in favor of free coinage is not questioned, nor is it doubted that if in full possession of the Government the party would unhesitatingly pass a free silver bill. In the House, Thursday, Mr. Harter, a Democrat from Ohio, said that the effect of such legislation would be to convert the currency ruinously and cruelly, and that disaster to the country would surely follow. The people are listening to all this, do not place it beyond the power of the Democrats to work this great injury in the election this fall, it will not be from any lack of warning.

This is good news that comes from Washington in regard to the prospect of shelving the free coinage bill for the session. — Boston Herald.

It is by no means certain that the silver bill will be shelved at this session of Congress, but the sentence quoted above is a fair illustration of the honesty of the Herald's opposition to free coinage. Why should the bill be shelved at this session when the overwhelming majority is in favor of it? The answer is, of course, perfectly apparent. It would simply be a distinct purpose on the part of the Democrats to mislead the people, and enable such papers as the Herald to work for the success of the party, a victory for which would mean the enactment of the very legislation the Herald now asks shelved as being dangerous. It is sad to see a paper, which, seven days in the week, boasts of its independence, so tide bound in its partisanship that it will deliberately resort to such low down methods in the hope of blindfolding the people long enough for the Democrats to win in the coming election.

Inconsistencies of the Free Wool Bill.

In an interview with the correspondent of the Boston Journal on the free wool bill, Congressman Dingley, who was a member of the Ways and Means Committee in the last House, has exposed its inconsistencies: "Mr. Springer, and the majority of the Ways and Means Committee who have reported this bill do not trouble themselves about processes of reasoning which have reference to economic consistency. In his recent speech in New York Mr. Springer explained that the work before the House is to promote the election of a Democrat to the Presidency—not the furtherance of the public interests—and, accordingly, he is shaping his proposed tariff legislation simply to catch votes, and, like most politicians who undertake to subordinate principle to vote catching, he is likely to catch more Tartars than votes. Mr. Springer started out with the idea, which originated with Messrs. Gorman, Brice and Hill, the Democratic triumvirate, that he would avoid the tariff issue as much as possible by making up faces at the McKinley bill, simply putting forward a few sample bills to keep the Mills element in line, and making many asseverations as to what would be done after the next Presidential election, in case the Democracy should be triumphant.

"His plan was to tickle those who wanted free wool and protected cloth by reporting a bill which would place wool on the free list and simply remove the compensatory duty on manufactures of wool, leaving the protective duty for the benefit of the manufacturer intact. This and free coal and iron ore was what the Massachusetts Democrats had promised in the late campaign. Mr. Springer supposed he could keep his Democratic associates quiet by confidentially telling them that after wool had been placed on the free list then the farmers would help him go for manufactures of wool.

"Unfortunately for this programme Mr. Springer could not control his free trade associates; and hardly had he brought up his free wool bill in a conference of the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, before they insisted that it wouldn't do to go before Western and Southern farmers with a platform which places wool upon the free list and leaves manufactures of wool with protective duties. After a struggle, in which Mr. Stevens, of Massachusetts, a prominent woolen manufacturer, on the committee, protested unavailingly, Mr. Springer was out-voted and compelled to make a cut on manufactures of wool, which promises to be a still severer cut when the Western and Southern Democrats get at the bill in the House.

"The bill as reported reduces the duty on flannels and blankets to 25 per cent. on the lower grades of cloth and dress goods from 30 to 35 per cent., on the finest cloth and dress goods to 40 per cent., and on woolen clothing to 45 per cent.—removing in addition, of course, all the compensatory duties—thus making the duties on woolen goods far below the duties on cotton goods, notwithstanding worsted goods are much more difficult to make than cotton goods. And the disposition is to cut everything down to 30 per cent in woolens. The excuse given by Mr. Springer for placing in a free wool bill a duty of 25 per cent on shoddy and wool waste, is that he doesn't want any shoddy used in goods made in this country, and the duty on these articles is therefore made prohibitory.

"He has adopted David A. Wells's theory that shoddy is productive of fraud and disease and that it is used to a much greater extent in this country than in England, notwithstanding statistics show the reverse. He thinks he can make votes by going upon the platform and telling the people how the Democrats, by taxing shoddy, proposed to avoid disease and compel our manufacturers to use straight wool entirely. So we have the absurd outcome of a bill which proposes a duty of 25 per cent. on shoddy and wool waste, while at the same time it admits British goods made of shoddy and wool waste at the same duty as the raw material of which they are made. In other words, it is a bill to encourage the manufacture of shoddy and wool waste into cloth in Europe to be sold in our markets.

"When Mr. Springer's attention was called to the fact that his bill with the same imports as last year would cause a reduction of $20,000,000 in the revenue—already as small as it can be made with safety—he replied that the increased importation of woolen goods in consequence of the reduction of duty would offset this and give the country nearly as much revenue, that is, he claims that the decline of twenty million of importations of woolens and the increase of more than twenty millions in the demand for home-made woolens the past year, on account of the McKinley tariff, would be changed by his bill into an increase of more than twenty millions of imports of foreign goods and an equivalent reduction in the demand for domestic goods.

This would undoubtedly be the effect of a woolen tariff as that reported by the Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, only the mischief would not be gauged by twenty or even forty millions. The prosperity which the McKinley tariff has given the woolen industry without any increase in prices of goods to the consumer would be speedily changed to disaster. And the indignation which the abolition of the wool duty would cause among the farmers would speedily result in the election of a Congress which would cut the duties on woolen goods still lower and assault protection all along the line.

CITY OF BANGOR.

AN ORDINANCE providing for the appointment of a Board of Fire Commissioners.

SEC. 1. The Fire Department of the City of Bangor shall hereafter be under the management and control of a Board of Fire Commissioners.

SEC. 2. Said Board shall consist of three members, residents of the City of Bangor, and on the fourth Monday in March, 1892, or as soon thereafter as may be, there shall be elected by the City Council, by ballot in joint convention, one member of said Board to hold office for three years, one for two years and one for one year from said fourth Monday of March; and thereafter annually on the fourth Monday in March, there shall be elected in the same manner, one member of said Board for three years. Any member of said Board may be removed by the City Council in the manner prescribed by the city charter for removal of subordinate city officers. Any vacancy in said Board may be filled in the manner above prescribed for election. Not more than two of the members of said Board shall be elected from the same political party. No member of said Board shall be eligible to any salaried position under the Commissioners.

SEC. 3. Said Board shall under the City Council, have control of the engine and hose houses, engines, hose carts, hook and ladder trucks, and all apparatus of the Fire Department. They shall have full power in the selection of a Chief Engineer, Assistant Engineers (not to exceed four), Superintendent of Fire Alarm, Engineer of Steamers, drivers of engines, hose and hook and ladder trucks; and all officers and members of hose and hook and ladder companies.

SEC. 4. Said Board shall organize by the selection of one of its members to act as President, and another as Secretary and shall keep a complete record of all its proceedings, which shall be open to inspection of the City Council, or any member or a committee thereof.

SEC. 5. No person shall be appointed a member of the Fire Department without a trial of not less than three months unless such person is at present a member or has served that time in the Department. When a person has received a permanent appointment, he shall not be removed by said Commissioners unless for inefficiency or other causes detrimental to the Department.

SEC. 6. The salaries of the members of the hook and ladder and hose companies shall be fixed by the Board of Fire Commissioners, subject to approval of the City Council; provided, however, the pay of all members of any company shall be the same, with the exception of the officers. The salaries of all officers, drivers, engineers and all other employees of the Department shall be fixed by the City Council on the recommendation of the Board. The Board of Fire Commissioners shall each receive such compensation as may be annually determined by the City Council.

SEC. 7. The Board shall purchase all supplies necessary for the Department, for ordinary running expenses, but no engine, horse, hook and ladder truck, hose reel or other apparatus shall be purchased without authority of the City Council.

SEC. 8. The Board shall proceed to reorganize the Department according to the spirit of this ordinance. No member of the present companies or department shall be considered a permanent member until appointed by the Board of Fire Commissioners, which must be done within one year after the organization of said Board. The Board may make such rules and regulations for the government and efficiency of the Department as they may deem advisable, subject to the approval of the City Council.

The foregoing is a true copy of an ordinance passed by the City Council of Bangor on the 9th day of February, 1892.

NOMINATION REJECTED.

Governor's Council Refuses to Confirm Mr. Gilman as State Assessor.

AUGUSTA, Feb. 19. The nomination of Augustus W. Gilman, of Foxcroft, as State assessor was rejected by the council this afternoon, by a vote of 5 to 2. Messrs. Smith, of Kennebec, and Brackett, of York, voted for the confirmation.

Hearing on the Petition for the Removal.

AUGUSTA, Feb. 19. The hearing on the petition for the removal of Winston Phillips and Timothy Stubbs, special liquor constables of Androscoggin, came before the Governor and Council this forenoon. A. R. Savage of Auburn appeared for the petitioners. Seth M. [illegible] of Lewiston, represented the [illegible] who were also present, as were the County Commissioners, the City Marshal and an Ex-City Marshal of Lewiston. The hearing, which was long and spicy, will not be finished until [illegible] afternoon. The petitioners claim the special constables are inefficient, that there is no need for their services, that the sheriff has appointed deputies to look after the business.

They claim also that these constables interfere with Special Deputies. An abstract of the record of the [illegible] Court was presented by the petitioners to show that Special Constables had done much less than Special Deputies to enforce the law. Also presented notorious rum sellers in Lewiston a number of times each was arrested by Special Constables; also by Special Deputies. The record showed Special Constables Stubbs and Phillips seized in 1891, 714 gallons of hard liquor, [illegible] gallons of soft liquor, while the Special Deputies, in nine months of the same year, seized 1,747 gallons of hard liquor, 1,351 gallons of soft liquor. [illegible] stables and Special Deputies were [illegible] and testified. The defence of Special Constables have been efficient, [illegible] duced testimony to that effect.

The council rejected the nomination of Fred A. Tarbox, of Biddeford, as detective. Other nominations were confirmed. No one appearing for the petition for the appointment of a special constable in Waldo county, the matter was dismissed. The case of the Lewiston special constables went over until [illegible] ing March 8th.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Transfer of Revenue Marine Opposed by Secretary of Treasury.

A Lively Day in the House Caused by Democratic Quarrels.

Mr. Harter Performs in Spite of All the House Rules.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. The Vice-President laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury in answer to a Senate resolution taking strong grounds against the proposed transfer of the revenue marine service from the Treasury to the Navy Department. Referred to the Committee on Naval Affairs.

On motion of Mr. Morrill it was resolved that when the Senate adjourned to-day it be to meet next Tuesday.

The following bills on the calendar were disposed of: For a beacon light on the Government breakwater at Bridgeport, Conn., passed; for a light and fog signal station near Butler Flats, New Bedford, Mass., passed; appropriating $10,000 for life saving station at Gay Head, passed; to amend the act of the 7th of August, 1882, as to inspectors of hulls and boilers of steam vessels.

After an explanation by Mr. Frye to the effect that the object of the bill was to discontinue the office of inspectors of foreign steamships, leaving the work to be done by the inspectors of domestic steamships, thus effecting a saving of $14,400 a year, the bill was passed.

The bill to fix the compensation of keepers and crews of life saving stations was laid over.

The Senate discussed the bill authorizing the issue of 3 per cent. bonds to provide a permanent system of highways in that part of the District of Columbia lying outside of the city of Washington.

Mr. Cockrell moved that the rate of interest be fixed at 2 per cent.

Mr. Berry inquired of Mr. Harris whether as half the expense was to be borne by the United States, was there any necessity for issuing bonds to pay that half.

Mr. Harris expressed the fear that the treasury was not in condition, just now, to lend or advance money for the benefit of the people of the District of Columbia or to pay half the expense which would arise out of the bill.

Mr. George said his understanding was there was no money in the Treasury. There had been a surplus of $100,000,000 three years ago, and in addition to that and money received there had been ninety millions of Treasury notes issued and used by the government. If this bill is to pass he would save the interest by issuing treasury notes instead of bonds to pay for the improvements, and he would at the same time thereby increase the circulation which would be for the benefit of the country at large.

An amendment making the bonds payable at the expiration of 20 years was agreed to.

Mr. Cockrell modified the amendment to make the rate of interest $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.

Mr. Sherman asserted there was nothing to justify the statement that the 2 per cent or $2\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. bond could be sold at par. Without action on the measure the Senate adjourned until Tuesday.

House.

Mr. McMillin, of Tennessee, was Speaker pro tem. for the day. The House went into committee of the whole on the private calendar.

The first bill to be considered was the one appropriating $4000 for the relief of the First Methodist church, of Jackson, Tenn. It gave rise to some discussion. On motion of Mr. Enloe, of Tennessee, that the bill be laid aside with a favorable recommendation, the vote stood 56 to 31. Mr. Bland, of Missouri, demanded tellers.

There was no second to this demand and Mr. Cockran, of New York, raised the point of no quorum.

A dispute ensued as to whether the point had not been taken too late.

Tellers were appointed on Mr. Enloe's motion. No quorum appeared and Mr. Cockran withdrew his point.

At Mr. Enloe's request the bill was passed over to retain its place on the calendar. The next bill for the relief of A. J. Duncan, of Tennessee, was the axle on which revolved another silver wheel. It was set in motion by Mr. Bland, who had the clerk read a letter from a Grand Army post in Missouri, asking him to inform Mr. Harter, in response to his anti-silver circular, that the Grand Army posts were able to attend to their own business.

Mr. Bland again criticized Mr. Harter's attitude on the silver question.

Mr. Harter said Mr. Bland ought to rise in manliness by ascribing to the gentlemen the singleness and integrity purpose he arrogated to himself.

As the fact that he, Mr. Harter, had chosen at his own expense to reach a very large number of the people of the country who were deeply interested in the silver question, seemed to rankle in the mind of the gentleman from Missouri, he would state that he had also taken the liberty of taking great pains to reach all classes of citizens who would be injured, wronged and outraged by the kind of legislation his friend, honestly but ignorantly, would force upon the country. (Laughter).

The free silver bill was an infamous measure, yet he ascribed to the gentleman an honest purpose in submitting it. Protective tariff legislation, which was against many of the interest of the few, was infamous and outrageous, but he would be the last man in the world to say to his friend and relative, Mr. McKinley was an infamous man. It was evidence of weakness, of the worst kind of intellectual cowardice, for a member to take the time of the House in denouncing a man under such circumstances. When the gentleman undertook ignorantly, but honestly (laughter) to advocate a measure which would take away 40 per cent of the savings of the people, he, (Mr. Harter) had the right to denounce the measure as infamous, outrageous, and unworthy of serious consideration in Congress.

A set of men took a stand on this particular question and talked of being Democrats. They talked of the evils of protection and eloquently, courageously and powerfully spoke the truth on that question. It was time to give some attention to the people suffering under just the same wrongs, under legislation which was equally unjust and indefensible. The House had been told that one class of legislation fell heavily upon ninety-five citizens of every one hundred, and took away their property and handed it over to the other five under the operation of the McKinley act.

But some gentlemen seemed to think it perfectly right and very democratic to take the earnings and property of ninety-nine citizens out of every one hundred and hand them over to monopolies.

He (Mr. Harter) spoke for people who had no vote. He spoke for the helpless women and children, for the poor creature who labored over the washtub for the support of her helpless family. He was Democratic because he believed in certain principles, therefore when this kind of legislative robbery was presented and he was asked to support it, he must answer "No." The gentleman from Missouri was on the stronger side of the Democratic party on this question and he (Mr. Harter) was on the weaker. The gentleman knew in his soul that a man could be a Democrat only when he advocated equal rights to all men. (Applause.)

Mr. McKinney, of New Hampshire, raised the point of order that this discussion was entirely out of order, not being directed to the bill under consideration by the committee.

The chair sustained the point of order and stated that the bill under consideration was one for the relief of Mr. Duncan, of Tennessee.

Mr. Harter replied that his remarks were directed towards the bill, and if Mr. Duncan got the appropriation he wanted to be paid 100 cents on the dollar. (Laughter and applause).

Mr. Lind, of Minnesota, asked whether he understood the gentleman correctly in defining the principals of the Democratic party to be free trade and single gold standard. Mr. Harter was interrupted by a number of Democrats protesting against the latitude of the debate.

Mr. Harter said the position of the Democratic party is in favor of a double standard and of keeping every dollar worth 100 cents. (Applause on the Republican side and demands for regular order from Democrats.)

We believe in the use of both gold and silver as money and are unalterably opposed to any legislation that would drive either gold or silver out of general circulation (applause.) There has never been an hour when the two coins varying in market value as gold and silver now do have been maintained in general circulation side by side.

Mr. Lind [illegible] his question as to the attitude of the Democratic party in regard to free trade.

Mr. Fithian and Mr. Holman [illegible] tempted to take Mr. Harter [illegible] when he demanded it [illegible]

Mr. Heard, of Missouri, [illegible]

chair to enforce the rule requiring members to discuss the matter under consideration.

The chair appealed to Mr. Harter to address himself to the Duncan bill.

Mr. Harter said he would do so. This man from Tennessee wanted an appropriation. (Laughter.) That appropriation was raised by taxing people, and the question asked by Mr. Lind was highly pertinent under the circumstances. (Laughter.)

The Democratic party is in favor of the freest possible trade for the humblest soul, and protection of the American flag. (Applause.)

Mr. Cobb, of Alabama, declared Mr. Harter was out of order.

The chair again appealed to Mr. Harter to comply with the rules.

Mr. Harter began to talk about the tariff again.

Mr. Fithian, of Illinois, asked if there was any power in any officer of the House to enforce the rules.

Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, hoped there would be no such exhibition of tyranny as that. (Laughter.)

Mr. Cobb and Mr. Harter got into a brief but angry colloquy, but their words were drowned by demands of "regular order" from the Democrats and cries of "Oh, let them go on" from the Republicans.

When comparative order was restored Mr. Cobb stated that the gentleman from Ohio had been deliberately violating the rules.

Mr. Harter made no reply and the two gentlemen shook hands amicably. Mr. Harter said he hoped that no objection to a discussion of the tariff question would come from the Democratic side.

Mr. Cobb again made a point of order.

Mr. Harter continued, and said the position of the Democratic party on free trade was this: Every American citizen was entitled to the most absolute free trade with every inhabitant of the globe, limited only by the amount of tariff necessary to conduct the government.

Mr. Harter asked Mr. Lind if he endorsed the McKinley bill.

Mr. Lind said he voted for it. He endorsed it as a whole. (Laughter).

The silver debate was then terminated and Mr. Holman, of Indiana, raised against the Duncan bill the point of no quorum.

Mr. Reed suggested that a hundred members be regarded as constituting a quorum, but as this suggestion did not meet with favor, he proposed that unanimous consent be given to locate the claim in Indiana, which might obviate the objection of the gentleman. (Laughter.)

Without action the committee rose and the House adjourned till Tuesday.

Attacking the Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. Nothing was said at the meeting of the Ways and Means Committee to-day as to which of the tariff bills will be first called up. Mr. Bryan and Mr. Wilson, members of the committee, think the binding twine bill will be taken up first. Mr. Montgomery, another member of the committee, believes the wool bill will have precedence.

The minority has committed to Messrs. Reed and Burrows the duty of framing an explanation of its views with reference to wool.

Thinks the Change Undesirable.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. In answer to the resolution asking the Secretary of the Treasury to give his opinion as to the expediency of transferring the revenue marine service to the Navy Department, Secretary Foster to-day sent a letter to the Senate.

He says: I am clearly of the opinion that such transfer is inexpedient and unwise. Revenue marine officers are engaged on the water, as are the customs officers on land, in detecting and preventing frauds upon the revenue.

The department which collects the major portions of the revenue for the support of the government should have complete and undoubted control of the instrumentalities for its collection.

A Loaded Bomb Discovered in the Nick of Time.

MESSINA, Sicily, Feb. 19. A loaded bomb was discovered last night outside the Spanish Consulate in this city. The fuse was burning but was quickly extinguished by the finders. No arrests have yet been made.

Great Snow Storms Increase in Severity.

LONDON, Feb. 19. The snow storm which has prevailed recently throughout the United Kingdom has increased in severity. Last night there was further interruption of telegraphic service and railway traffic was greatly interfered with. In the Dartmoor hills and in several other places in the southwestern part of England the snow is several feet deep. In Scotland highlands and the middle counties there is a foot of snow.

The Men Concluded to Go to Work.

ROME, Feb. 19. The threat which was made at the joint meeting of twenty-three labor societies yesterday that a general strike would be inaugurated to-day and continued until the government has started public works to give employment to idle workmen, is set at naught by the government, which last night caused the arrest of several prominent labor agitators. This action of the authorities had good results, and to-day instead of going on strike as threatened the men are all working as usual.

French Ministry Insists Upon Resigning.

PARIS, Feb 19. All the members of the cabinet met at the office of the Ministry of War this afternoon and discussed the situation. They finally decided to go to the palace and tender a collective resignation to President Carnot.

In accordance with the programme the ministers called upon President Carnot and tendered him their joint resignation, which was accepted.

At a meeting appointed by President Carnot for this afternoon he strongly urged the ministers to reconsider, but M. De Freycinet insisted upon resigning.

All Hands Probably Drowned.

LONDON, Feb. 19. The Pilot boat Polly, belonging in Cardiff, was picked up to-day at sea abandoned, and was towed to Ilfracombe, north coast of England.

The boat was in very bad condition, dismasted and had received considerable other damages, showing she must have encountered a terrible gale.

No trace of the pilots or crew of the Polly could be found. It is believed all hands were drowned.

SONS OF BOWDOIN DINE.

Recalling the Happy Days Spent in a Famous Seat of Learning.

Chief Justice Fuller Presides—Senator Frye, Representative Boutelle, the Chief Justice and Others Respond to Toasts—A Distinguished Company.

Bowdoin College, up in Maine, has graduated some great men in its day. Longfellow and Hawthorne are always remembered in connection with the famous institution. Some of her distinguished sons are in the midst of affairs to-day, as was shown at the annual banquet of the Washington Alumni Association at Welcker's last night, where Chief Justice Fuller sat at the head of the table, with Senator Frye and Representative Boutelle at either hand. Other invited guests were Hon. William P. Drew, of Philadelphia, and Prof. L. A. Lee, who came into prominence last summer as leader of the Bowdoin scientific expedition which penetrated several hundred miles into Labrador and discovered the wonderful Grand Falls, which rival Niagara in height and volume.

There was one noticeable difference distinguishing this from most college banquets in that most of the heads around the table were gray. The menu was excellent, and it inspired some after-dinner speeches worth listening to.

Col. Ellis Spear was the toastmaster, and with Col. W. H. Owen, the secretary, looked down the long table to the president, Chief Justice Fuller. He introduced as the first speaker Mr. Llewellyn Deane, who read a paper upon the condition of the college mentioning the Fairweather bequest of $100,000 and other recent gifts, including the Garcelon-Merritt $400,000, and spoke of the needs of the college in the way of buildings and increased salaries for the instructors.

Prof. Lee, who fills the chair of biology, is an enthusiast in athletics and a fine specimen of physical development, gave a practical and sanguine exposition of Bowdoin's work, mentioning the development of the library from a storehouse for books to a place for intelligent study, the infusion of young blood into the faculty, and told the story of the Labrador expedition.

Representative Boutelle, who, although not a graduate of Bowdoin, said that he owed much to the atmosphere of culture which he had inhaled while a youth in Brunswick, spoke interestingly. The more he saw of men the greater was the honor he felt inclined to bestow upon the Bowdoin professors of the old time. Bowdoin, he said, was a college which takes no second place in the standing of her men. Were the professors of the old days yet living they would stand in the front rank of educators now, as they did then. Although dead, their works lives after them. They were content to deny themselves the sordid allurements of fortune to devote their lives to the noble works of moulding men.

In all the educational institutions of the United States is none devoting itself more successfully to this foremost work of a college, the making of men. "As to her success, in this presence, turning toward the Chief Justice, Senator Frye, Rev. Dr. Southgate, Prof. Chickering and others, only necessary to repeat the words of the great architect's epitaph in Saint Paul's 'circumspice.'"

Senator Frye said that Mr. Boutelle had expressed his appreciation of the honor of sitting at the right hand of the Chief Justice of the United States, when in fact he was only sitting by "Mel Fuller," who was a greater man than the Chief Justice, and would bring sunshine into any dark corner. Prof. Lee had repeated the old cry of colleges for more money, which Bowdoin is reiterating while diamonds are falling into her lap. With all respect to the venerable professors of past generations, who had been lauded, he was convinced that the instructors of the present day are doing better work than was ever done before.

While like Mr. Boutelle, all his sons were girls, he had nine grandsons, a majority of whom will go to Bowdoin. One is already a good all-round athlete, the prime requisite for a modern college student; another, nine years old, recently requested of him an appointment on a gunboat for the Chilian war, and would be a good man to fight the "yaggers."

He hoped Bowdoin would have all the money she wanted, but never as much as Harvard or Yale. He thought it took a Harvard man twenty years to learn something after he left college. The small college is doing the best work, the personal contact with the professors which its students receive being worth more than any advantages which can be secured in larger institutions.

Hon. William P. Drew, of Philadelphia; Dr. Wolhaupter, and Rev. Frank Sewall responded to toasts, and Mr. Dennett spoke for the young alumni.

Chief Justice Fuller was called upon to give the closing response. He thought the most pleasant prerogative of the president was his exemption from the burden of making a speech. He did not want to make a poor speech and he did not dare to make a good one, because of the burdensome results which follow a reputation of being gifted in that direction. In other words, he said the Chief Justice of the United States did not dare to be as funny as he could.

The pleasantest incidents of life were the renewals of old friendships, for their flavor is lacking in new ones, however pleasant. Neither power nor knowledge nor wealth can ever bring back the flavor of youth, which was the finest thing about college days.

Those present were:

Chief Justice Fuller, Senator Frye, Hon. Charles A. Boutelle, Rev. Frank Sewall, F. E. Dennett, Prof. J. W. Chickering, Col. J. H. Gilman, S. I. Kimball, H. L. Prince, Stanley Plummer, Woodbury Pulsifer, F. O. Fish, Winthrop Tappan, C. B. Hastings, E. S. Bartlett, Charles H. Verrill, Ellis Spear, Prof. L. A. Lee, William P. Drew, Rev. Dr. William S. Southgate, J. W. Butterfield, Col. W. H. Owen, Capt. G. A. Garfield, Gen. F. D. Sewell, Dr. D. L. Walhaupter, Prof. R. L. Packard, J. C. Srout, Llewellyn Deane, Joseph F. Whitney and Victor Kauffmann.

COLLEGE OFFICERS MEET

And Take Action on Various Matters.

The president, trustees and overseers of Bowdoin College met Thursday. The following trustees were present: Rev. Wm. DeWitt Hyde, president; Rev. John Orr Fiske, vice president; Hon. Joshua L Chamberlain, Rev. Egbert C. Smyth, Hon. Wm. L. Putnam, Rev. John Sewall, Gen. Thomas H. Hubbard, Hon. John A. Peters.

The following were the overseers present: Hon. Joseph W. Symonds, Hon. L. A. Emery, Hon. Edward B. Nealley, Dr. Alfred Mitchell, Hon. Samuel F. Humphrey, Hon. Josiah Crosby, G. C. Moses, D. A. Robinson, F. H. Gerrish, Hon. C. F. Libby, John A. Morrill, Rev. J. E. Adams, S. C. Belcher, Rev. Edgar M. Cousins, O. C. Stevens.

A resolution was passed accepting the bequest of the late Mrs. Catherine Garcelon. This is the bequest which it is expected will yield the college the sum of $400,000.

In regard to the proposition of the Misses Walker offering to erect and present to the college an art building, the following action was taken:

Voted, That the boards accept with gratitude the generous proposition of Misses Mary Sophia and Harriet Sarah Walker to erect and present to the college, in memory of their uncle, Theophilus Wheeler Walker, late of Waltham, Mass., a building to be used exclusively for art purposes.

Voted, That the President and Prof. Young of the Board of Trustees, Messrs. Northend and Moses of the Overseers, and Prof. George T. Little of the Faculty, be a committee to co-operate with the Misses Walker, with full power to act in respect to the location and construction of this proposed art building.

Gen. O. O. Howard, of the class of '50, was elected a trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Joseph Titcomb.

Resolutions looking toward the [illegible] ing of the college dormitories were passed, also to the erection of two houses for the occupancy of the professors.

LOCAL MATTERS.

The County Commissioners who have been in session here have adjourned.

Bangor leads off with the Maine building boom for 1892, says the Kennebec Journal.

Next Monday being Washington's Birthday, a legal holiday, there will be no session of the public schools.

The next session of the Exeter Q. M. F. B. will be held at Burnham village, March 12th and 13th. All are invited.

The warm, pleasant weather brought many out of doors yesterday and the streets were full of riding parties.

The next to the last in the course of the subscription dances at Old Town, was given last night. Music was furnished by Bangor musicians.

Mr. Frank Mayo and his company arrived in this city yesterday noon from Togus where they played Thursday night. From here they go to Lewiston.

The 15th annual session of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Honor, of Maine, was held at Pythian Hall, Rockland, Wednesday evening and officers elected for the ensuing year.

The public recital of the pupils of Mr. Oscar E. Wasgatt, Bangor's talented violinist, will occur at City Hall next Friday evening and it will doubtless be an enjoyable event.

The annual dinner of the Maine Veteran Association will take place at the American House, Boston, Thursday evening, February 25th. It is hoped that the sons and daughters of veterans will be present.

The second class in the elocutionary contest under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., in which a silver medal will be given the successful competitor, is nearly ready to recite and the contest will be given in the Y. M. C. A. lecture room.

The entertainment which was to have been given at Norombega Hall on the evening of March 1st by the seniors of the High School, has been postponed to some time about the middle of the month, the exact date not having been determined upon.

The lecture on Aaron Burr last evening before the Debating Club at the Young Men's Christian Association by Rev. T. E. Busfield was one of the most instructive that has been given in the city for some time. Mr. Busfield should be heard oftener on the lecture platform as he generally has something interesting to say.

The regular monthly sociable of the Hammond Street Society occurred last evening. Supper was served at 7 o'clock and the following entertainment at 8 o'clock: Tableau, "Rock of Ages," recitation, Marion Davis; song, Miss Mae Todd: reading, Miss Stainford. A large number was present and the time passed pleasantly.

The next time the members of the Norombega Sportsman's Club visit the Belfast Gun and Rod Club, they will probably be entertained at a new club house which the Belfast men intend to build at some point on the shore of Belfast harbor next summer. It is planned to have a handsome club house in one of the finest locations on the sightly shore.

The hull of the steamer Frank Jones is rapidly being planked up, while the top works are enough advanced to give one something of an idea of what this speedy craft is going to be when ready for service. She will be one of the first vessels to launch from the Bath yards this year, and will be one of the finest equipped of all those to be seen upon the Maine coast.

The boys had a fine time snowballing yesterday but two of them carried that uncomfortable amusement too far. Burt E. Annis and Charles Brown were arrested, brought before the municipal court and fined $2 and costs each for participating in the exercise. They were engaged in frightening horses in Haymarket square and when one of the owners remonstrated they began to snowball him. They will doubtless not do so again.

"Better roads" is to be the watch word all over Maine this spring. It was taken up by the wheelmen and now the farmers are devoting thought to the movement, partly as a result of the dissemination of literature bearing on the subject by the State organization of cyclers. Better roads will do more to make Maine additionally popular as a summering field than any other feature we can think of, unless it is good straw ticks and plenty of wholesomely cooked food at the boarding houses.

College men in general and Harvard and Yale men in particular are wondering what will be the outcome regarding the base ball games this year. Harvard is much disgusted at Yale's failure to arrange games at the recent conference. Yale fails to comprehend why Harvard thinks their proposition is unfair. Mr. Franklin, of Yale, thinks that games will undoubtedly be arranged this year. Two of them will be played on June 23 and June 28. If Harvard decides to play the first game on neutral grounds, June 4 will probably be selected for it, but unless that date is agreed upon the series will consist of two games and will be left undecided in case of a tie.

The funeral services of Mrs. Lucy B. Nash, wife of the late O. M. Nash, and daughter of the late John and Lucy F. Low, of Bangor, were held Thursday afternoon at her residence on Carleton street, Portland. The last sad rites were performed by Rev. Mr. Whitman, of the First Baptist church, assisted by the church choir. The floral tributes were numerous and exquisite, tokens of love and respect by which she, who had passed through this vale of tears into the valley of the shadow of the great hereafter, was held by the large circle of friends, who, while they mourn their loss, will long be conscious of the lingering breath of her gentle and loving virtues. She leaves two promising boys, Frank L. and Willie T., aged respectively eleven and ten years.

Summer visitors from this section of the State who go to Northeast Harbor, will be interested to learn that the new library will be completed before the season opens and it will be an excellent privilege. The idea was conceived by President Gilman of John Hopkins University last summer, who was warmly seconded by others of influence, and in a short time money was raised by means of entertainments, and an association formed. Land was purchased of Mr. Herman Savage, near the Rockland, Mr. F. L. Savage was engaged to make the plans, Mr. Curtis Hodgkins was given the contract and before the summer visitors had gone the building was up and boarded. It contains three rooms, a book room, writing room and a periodical room. The mason work is done and the building will be completed early in the summer.

The influenza has had a long and severe rage throughout the State as is shown by the reports on every hand, and the isolated dwellers in the country regions have suffered almost beyond belief. In some towns whole families have been laid prostrate and dependence for food and nursing have been entirely upon the charity and kindness of more fortunate neighbors. In some villages organized relief committees have [illegible] looked after and fed the cattle and other live stock. BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

Important Matters Discussed at a Meeting of the Executive Committee.

There was a meeting of the executive committee of the State Board of Agriculture at the department Thursday evening, B. F. Briggs, of Auburn, and F. S. Adams, of Bowdoin, and Secretary McKeen being present. Several matters were decided upon.

The first matter to come up was the advisability of issuing to the farmers of the State at an early date bulletins for the purpose of ascertaining the number and character of abandoned farms, and the number that had buildings on them and the condition of the repair the buildings are in. The board also took action to provide a permanent set of books for the department.

No records whatever have been left over by the previous secretary so that all the record the board has is the following report of Secretary Gilbert, taken from the minutes of the last annual meeting: "Expended during the year, $3200.65; excess of appropriation, $200.65; expenditures from Jan. 1st, 1892, to Jan. 20th, $379.39; drawn from the appropriation of the current year, $580.04."

The board believes that the department should have a complete set of books to be kept at the rooms. There will be hereafter a record book and one for keeping the itemized accounts. The board also recommends a visitors' book in which all visitors to the department shall inscribe their names and residences which will be valuable for reference, etc.

They will also seek to secure quarters for the board at the State fairs, a permanent office building if possible. They decided that it will not be expedient to hold any institute during the summer except such as are already promised. They authorized the secretary to collect all the State laws now in force as regarding agriculture, publish them in a pamphlet and incorporate them in his, the secretary's, report. Dr. A. K. P. Meserve of Portland, will be invited to prepare a paper on home sanitation for the report. It was also voted to have the complete set of reports bound.

Secretary McKeen is writing the publishers of the leading agricultural papers in this and other States, asking them to send copies of their papers to put on file in the department, and quite a number of copies have already been received.

The Railroad Question.

There having been some misapprehension about town in regard to the position of Hon. J. S. Weelwright, on the railroad question, we learn from him in an interview yesterday that he is heartily in sympathy with both the building of the Aroostook Railroad and of the sale of the Bangor and Piscataquis road to them. He says he does not well see how any citizen of Bangor, interested in its prosperity and welfare, can do otherwise than to do all in his power to assist in promoting the enterprise. The resolution introduced by A. L. Simpson, Esq., at the railroad meeting would meet his approval as being a fair one.

A THRILLING ADVENTURE.

Narrow Escape from Death While on a Railroad Trestle.

Messrs. Wallace Howard and Henry Grover, of Morison, had a most thrilling adventure recently, and an exceeding narrow escape from death. Grover owes his life to Howard.

They were at Greenwood pond, fishing, with Fred and John Douglass. A big snow storm came on and Howard and Grover decided to go on foot, via the Canadian Pacific Railway track, to Onaway Station and take the first western bound train for Greenville and come home by train.

It was 6 o'clock in the chilly and frosty morning. They were about half way across the Greenwood trestle, which is some 500 feet in length, when they were surprised by a western bound train, thundering along at a rate of thirty-five or forty miles an hour. Instantly they decided to turn round and go back a few steps to a place where they could secure their safety, which place they had noticed as they passed along.

In doing so. Mr. Grover fell and broke his leg. Then they were in as deep peril as two men could well be. The rushing, roaring train nearing to them destruction and death, was close upon them and action must be instant and decisive or both lives would be lost. They were on the brink of eternity. Snow and frost were everywhere—on the steel rails and in the air. Clouds of snow were between them and the deadly engine, and no engineer could possibly have discovered their danger.

Mr. Grover implored Wallace to save his own life and leave him to his fate, but Wallace persisted in pushing, tumbling and dragging him a short distance to a place where they were about four feet from the terrible train of cars.

As they reached their goal, the rushing train whirled by them and as near as they can now reckon, they had just about one minute of margin between life on this earth and an awful death.

Then Wallace returned to camp and secured help. Mr. Grover was taken to Onaway and then to Henderson, where he was attended by the C. P. R. physician and was brought home by train the same afternoon. He is now under the care of Dr. Harding and is as comfortable as could be expected under the circumstances.

They say that every possible courtesy was shown them by the officers and employes of the C. P. R., for which they are very grateful.

AMUSEMENTS.

Frank Mayo in "Davy Crockett."

Mr. Frank Mayo in the role of "Davy Crockett" in the familiar play of that name stands unequalled, and he was heartily appreciated last night at the Opera House, upon the occasion of his return to this city. There was a fair sized audience present, every member of which was given an evening of enjoyment by the presentation of the idyll of the backwoods.

Mr. Mayo's portrayal of the untutored but brave and manly "Davy Crockett" is marked by a quiet yet very effective force of speech, action and expression, which is masterly in the highest degree, and physically he is well suited to the requirements of the role. The attentive stillness at certain impressive periods and enthusiastic applause at others were sufficient testimony that the sterling work of Mr. Mayo was enjoyed.

The support is not hardly up to the standard, but the play passed off very smoothly.

To-night the closing performance will be given and there will doubtless be a large audience.

"A Royal Pass."

Tickets are now on sale for next Monday and Tuesday evenings' performances of "A Royal Pass," by George C. Staley and his company. This notice is from the Philadelphia Daily News of January 26:

At the Empire Theatre last evening a very large audience gathered to receive George C. Staley, the German comedian, in the character of Andreas Hoffer, in "A Royal Pass." The characters in the play are all well played, Ernest Allen making a natural Ivan Zotoff, a pardoned prisoner from Siberia. His grief-stricken wife, Vera, is well played by Miss Louise Halbee. Their flight with their child, Louise, from the influences of the tyrannical Russian agent, Jarrawitz, Charles J. Richman, and his assistant, Sidorski, J. C. Huffman, is exciting. Hoffer turns up at the right time to save them, and in the third act there is an inspiring scene of two locomotives dashing across the stage in a snow storm. The singing of Mr. Staley is enjoyable and he is assisted by Miss Louise Haven in the part of Hulda, the peasant. The production is on a high scale and will draw large houses.

Notes.

The famous comedian, Henry E. Dixey, will appear at the Opera House on Monday evening, February 29th, the engagement being for one night only. The play to be presented is "The Solicitor."

The Kindergarten Association cleared $119.25 over all expenses at their late benefit.

Agnes Huntington is suffering from an attack of laryngitis, and was unable to sing in New York Tuesday night. The Union Square Theatre is, therefore temporarily closed.

Abbey, Schoeffel & Grau will bring their Italian and French company, now at the Metropolitan Opera House, to Boston on March 14 for a season of two weeks in grand opera. The difficulty of procuring a suitable stage and auditorium has been overcome by ingenious plans. The Mechanics' building will be made into an opera house. An enlarged stage will be set up and a new floor, inclining from the orchestra to the lobbies in the rear, will be fitted with the Harwood folding opera chairs, the newest design for beauty and comfort. Each seat will have an uninterrupted view of the stage. A very low scale of prices will be established.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra met with its accustomed success in its tour of last week. Mrs. Julia Wyman and Richard Burmeister were the solo artists in Baltimore, where the hall was literally packed. In Washington, Miss Leonora Von Stosch was the great feature of the evening, but Mrs. Wyman and Mr. Kneisel also won hearty recognition.

Carl Milloecker's new operetta, "Das Sonntagskind," brought out in Vienna, January 16, made a decided hit.

Living Whist.

The supper served by the ladies of the Episcopal church next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, will afford an opportunity to housekeepers to rest from their labors at those hours and to enjoy the society of their friends while also enjoying the delicious viands which are always forthcoming at these suppers and which are the very best of the kind. The hall will be in fine condition, having been recently renovated, and entire comfort will be afforded the patrons of the entertainment. The Wednesday afternoon matinee for children, dancing at four and "Pink Tea" at five o'clock, will have special attention, as the ladies are determined to spare no pains to make the little ones happy. They have had so few opportunities for dancing this winter that this will be a happy occasion, and the "Pink Tea" will be largely attended, as there is nothing like a tea party to make the young heart beat with joy. Contributing to a child's happiness is most satisfactory and praiseworthy, and so we should see to it that they lose not the gala time Wednesday night.

There will be a rehearsal of "Living Whist" next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Norombega Hall and it is particularly requested that every one be present.

A PLEASANT OCCASION.

Sons of Veterans' Masquerade Ball at City Hall Friday Evening.

City Hall with its handsome decorations and the merry throng of dancers presented a scene of gayety to the onlooker last evening. It was the occasion of the masquerade ball given by Daniel Chaplin Camp, Sons of Veterans. The galleries were filled with interested spectators and on the floor was a very large number of dancers, most of whom were in costume. Many of the costumes were beautiful, all were highly effective and the sight was one to be remembered.

Music was furnished by Messrs. Lougee, Jones, Mason and Wood, and to the harmonious strains of their instruments the light fantastic was tripped by all who wished until a late hour. Early in the evening the masqueraders were "taken" in a group by a photographer from the establishment of Mr. C. L. Marston. The affair passed off successfully and was of a most enjoyable nature. For these happy results of their labor much credit is due to those who worked to make it a success.

The floor director was Past Captain C. S. Head and the aids were Messrs. E. E. Bond, E. W. Blake, E. T. Haskell, R. B. White, A. H. Pierce and Charles Ware. The committee of arrangements consisted of Messrs. C. E. Maxfield, A. W. Patterson and G. N. Williamson.

Paderewski at Portland.

Paderewski, the renowned pianist, will give piano recitals in City Hall, Portland, on the evening of February 29th at 8 o'clock and on the afternoon of March 1st, and great interest will be taken in his visit to Maine. He is one of the most eminent players in the world, and will be heard with much pleasure. Half fare rates are offered on the railroads to all who have tickets to the recitals. Other particulars are given in the "ad" in another column.

Thought Actually Photographed.

Nerve Waves and Brain Waves Pictured on the Plate.

"It is wonderful what modern advancement and discovery have done. They produced the telegraph and telephone. They have revealed the most distant worlds by the telescope, and the minutest objects by the microscope. They have developed the camera so that every man, woman and child may become an artist, and by simply pressing a button obtain any desired picture."

The foregoing remarks were made recently by a well known man of science to a group of interested listeners. Continuing, he said:

"The latest discovery, and the most wonderful of all, is the photographing of brain and nerve waves. Every action of the brain, every pulsation of the nerves, produces a wave in the atmosphere, and this is now capable of being photographed. For example, a pleasant thought makes an even, regular and attractive circle upon the plate of the camera; while anger, grief and despair will make a harsh, jagged and unattractive picture. The natures and characters of different people also appear different upon the sensitive plate of the camera."

The professor smiled in a pleased manner, and continued:

"See what a detector of character this discovery might become. Suppose a lady to be considering an offer of marriage, and wishes to know exactly the real nature of the man who offered her his hand. She photographs it quietly, and there before her is the real character which the conventionalities of society may hide, but which she can discover. If the negative be harsh and irregular, she can certainly know that his character will be the same."

The doctor's face became very grave, as he continued:

"I am afraid that in most cases the camera would reveal very irregular lines in the case of the nervous. Most people's nervous systems are either shaken up or shattered most of the time. In many cases they have been patched up by some cheap nervine, sarsaparilla or other nostrum when they needed an actual nerve food; something scientific, something that is a marked advance in this great age of discovery. It is only within a few years that such a discovery has been made, but it certainly has been made, exists today, and is known as Paine's Celery Compound. This great preparation is as marked an advance in the treatment of the nerves and nervous troubles as the photographing of the brain and nerve waves I have already described is an advance over ordinary things. There are thousands of men and women in America to-day who would not be able to accomplish their daily duties were it not for the sustaining power of this great compound."

The words of the doctor, above quoted, are full of important significance to nearly every American at the present day.

The nervous systems of most men and women are in far too delicate a condition. They need strengthening, building up and constant care. And this can be in no way so certainly accomplished as by the use of the great compound above-named.

Ask your doctor what happens to cod-liver oil when it gets inside of you.

He will say it is shaken and broken up into tiny drops, becomes an emulsion; there are other changes, but this is the first.

He will tell you also that it s economy to take the oil broken up, as it is in Scott's Emulsion rather than burden yourself with this work. You skip the taste too.

"It Proved to be A Godsend." A clear note from an Atlantic Island: "Six years ago I was attacked with Neuralgic Rheumatism in right arm. It was paralyzed and finger joints all out of shape; had best doctors in New York, where I then lived; they did no good; concluded to give up and die; stumbled on Ath-lo-pho-ros; it proved to be a Godsend; in three days there was great improvement; could lift my arm without taking hold of it with my left hand; in a week I could eat and dress myself unaided, which I had not done for nine months; took one bottle and could lift my hand to my head; one other bottle made a complete cure; in six months finger joints came to normal shape. BREWER LOCALS.

Miss Emma G. Aiken is ill with la grippe.

Mrs. J. A. Mayo, who has been ill for a long time, is much improved in condition.

Mr. Samuel H. Cobb, of Rockland, formerly of this city, is visiting with relatives here.

Mrs. Orin Gordon has been quite ill at her home on Prospect street, but is now improving.

Mr. Gardner, of Bucksport, son of Hon. E. B. Gardner, of that place, was in the city yesterday.

Yesterday forenoon the power deserted the electric cars and one was obliged to stay near the postoffice for a few hours. In the afternoon, however, it was making trips about as usual.

Some small strikes have occurred among the employés of the various ice companies during the past day or two but no serious trouble has been met and there are plenty of men who are glad to get work.

The concert to be held at the Second Congregational church in South Brewer to-morrow evening is in the hands of an efficient committee and arrangements have been made for a most interesting event.

Some Brewer people were in the party from the Excelsior Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, of Bangor, that went to Hermon last evening, to visit the Lodge there, and confer the degree upon some candidates.

The next session of Penobscot County Pomona Grange is to be held with the Grange at East Eddington on Saturday, February 27th, one week from today. An interesting and profitable meeting is being looked forward to.

The smoke stack of the steamer Little Buttercup which has been undergoing extensive changes at Warren's dock during the winter, was placed in position yesterday, and the other work upon her is getting well along. It is expected that she will be a commodious and speedy craft in her new form.

The weekly assembly of the J. O. B.'s was held in City Hall last evening and the affair was largely attended. Music was furnished by Abbott & Atwood, and a pleasant program was carried out, those present finding the occasion a very enjoyable one. Refreshments were served by Mr. M. E. Maling.

To-morrow evening's meeting of the Christian Endeavor societies in the city is the regular time for the election of a delegate to the County Convention to be held in Orono next Friday, but none will be chosen as all members of the societies present at the sessions of the Union will be recognized as delegates. A number of those composing the organizations here have already announced their intention of attending the event, and our city will probably be well represented.

Apples were scattered about in a very promiscuous manner the ferry way, at one time yesterday forenoon. A young man with a team on which was a barrel of the above mentioned fruit, turned his horse too quickly and the barrel, with its contents was dumped to the ground, the apples rolling out and all over the street at that point. Their owner took the matter very calmly, and after, with the assistance of the bystanders, gathering his scattered property, started on his journey again.

Is there anything that delights the average small boy more than on leaving his home or the schoolroom, to find that the snow is of the proper consistency to allow him to make and use snow balls? From time immemorial he has spent a good portion of his spare time during the winter in the gentle (?) amusement which this sport furnishes him, and yesterday the representatives of that class of humanity in Brewer were to be seen waging fierce war upon each other with the small white missiles they make so deftly.

At this season of the year when the sidewalks get covered with ice, it is difficult to keep them in a condition safe for the use of pedestrians. After a coating of sand has been put on them "Old Sol" begins to get his heat soon causing the the particles to sink below the level of the surface of the ice, the walking again becomes hard and somewhat dangerous, and then it is necessary to renew the "sand treatment." The second application is usually all that is needed, however, until more snow and ice come.

The committee that is arranging the ride to Holden Town Hall, mention of which we have made before, has decided upon next Tuesday evening, February 23d, as the date for the affair. Teams are to leave Merrill's corner at 6 o'clock P. M., and at the hall the time will be spent in games and other amusements. A picnic supper will be indulged in. In addition to the invitations sent out before, more were issued last night, and the whole number is now between seventy-five and one hundred. Every arrangement is being made for the enjoyment of the occasion, and the number participating in it will probably be large.

A CURIOSITY. We were shown yesterday in Mr. Charles Glidden's store, an unusual instance of the growth of one species of plant upon another. A portion of a white birch tree was in the window and at the junction of a limb with the trunk was growing a healthy young fir, which was one and one-half or two feet in height. Its base was firmly embedded in the first named tree and although it is what is known as soft wood, while the other is hard, the appearances were that it would have grown to a good size had not the woodsman's axe interfered. This remarkable example of the support of one tree by another was found in the woods out on Eastern avenue and the fir was nearly twenty feet from the ground. Just how it happened to grow where it did is of course uncertain, and few such peculiar sights are ever seen about here.

The Jews in New York City.

The foolish writer who laughs at the Jews and ridicules their pretensions to influence would do well to study facts. There are more than 300,000 Jews in this city, holding something like $180,000,000 of real estate, with about 150 Jewish congregations, and capitalized investments representing the colossal figure of at least $950,000,000.—New York Recorder.

AN OLD SONG.

BY JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

It's the curiousest thing in creation,
Whenever I hear that old song,
"Do They Miss Me at Home?" I'm so bothered,
My life seems as short as it's long!
Fer ev'rything 'pears like adzackly
It 'peared in the years past and gone,
When I started out sparkin' at twenty,
An' had my first neckercher on.

Though I'm wrinkleder, older and grayer
Right now than my parents was then,
You strike up that song, "Do They Miss Me,"
And I'm jest a youngster again!
I'm a-standin' back there in the furrles,
A-wishin' fer evening to come,
And a-whisperin' over and over
Them words, "Do They Miss Me at Home?"

You see, Marthy Ellen she sung it
The first time I heerd it; and so,
As she was my very first sweetheart,
It reminds me of her, don't you know—
How her face ust to look in the twilight,
As I tuck her to spellin'; and she
Kep' a-hummin' that song tel I ast her,
Pine-blank, ef she ever missed me!

I can shet my eyes now, as you sing it,
And hear her low answerin' words;
And then the glad chirp of the crickets,
As clear as the twitter of birds;
And the dust in the road is like velvet,
And the ragweed and fennel and grass
Is as sweet as the scent of the lilies
Of Eden of old, as we pass.

"Do They Miss Me at Home?" Sing it lower—
And softer—and sweet as the breeze
That powdered our path with the snowy
White bloom of the old locus' trees.
Let the whipperwills he'p you sing to it,
And the echoes 'way over the hill,
Tel the moon boolges out in a chorus
Of stars, and our voices is still.

But, oh! "They's a chord in the music
That's missed when her voice is away!"
Though I listen from midnight tel morning,
And dawn tel the dusk of the day!
And I grope through the dark, lookin' up'ards
And on through the heavenly home,
With my longin' soul singin' and sobbin'
The words, "Do They Miss Me at Home?"

She Hangs Onto Her Umbrella Now.

The other morning a gentleman sat in an elevated car reading his newspaper as he went down to business. A pretty brown eyed stenographer sat next to him. The car was as crowded as usual. The young lady had a handsome umbrella, which supported its own dignity against the seat. For a little while—then the gentleman with the paper blindly reached over and placed the umbrella between his knees. The brown eyed stenographer regarded this movement with astonishment, not to say dismay. Several others were very much amused.

The impulse of the brown eyed girl to fall upon the newspaper reader at once and wrest her property from his felonious grasp, gave way to the prevailing sense of the ludicrous. She noted that he was reading an editorial. It was absentmindedness. But she had lost her last umbrella from the absentmindedness of the man who had taken it from the hall rack. There is altogether too much method in this absentminded business, she thought. It is especially overworked with regard to umbrellas. It always operates in favor of good umbrellas, too, and hers was a new silk. When this man had finished the article he threw his left leg over his right knee and carefully imprisoned her umbrella. At the same time he discovered her attention. She regarded him fixedly with her steady brown eyes and said:

"I beg pardon, sir; you have my umbrella."

The man started as if struck with a club. It was rather a broad hint. He looked, he saw, he blushed, he stammered, he handed it over to the fair owner. He was so overcome with the sense of his ridiculous position that he got out at the next station. The pretty brown eyed stenographer smiled all the way to Cortlandt street, but she never again relaxed hold on her umbrella.—New York Herald.

Scenery on the Danube.

Every bend of the river is the opportunity for a castle, and as these were built about a thousand years ago they are now highly picturesque, if not practical monuments. The Rhine suffers seriously in comparison with the first 500 miles of the Danube, but nowhere more than in this neighborhood, for not only are the Danube ruins as striking and extensive as those of the sister stream, but she has more of them. And what in our eyes adds still more to the charm of the Danube is the virginal character of its rock and forest—a rugged grandeur not yet vulgarized by villas and summer lodging houses—and in addition the picturesque peasantry whom we see crowding the bridges at noon, laden with scythes, rakes and forks, stalking like an army of rebellious rustics out into the hayfields after their midday dinner in the village home.

The most secluded part of the Rhine between Mainz and Bonn has about it the flavor of being prepared for Saturday afternoon visitors; is infected with suburbanism; is pretty, but self conscious. The Danube, on the other hand, is more like a rustic and ruddy nymph, ignorant as yet of her charms. She disports herself where the average tourist does not pass; the Baedekers and Murrays have nothing to say of her many secluded nooks. It is only by water that her charms can be seen to advantage, for at times her banks are so steep and rocky that it is not possible to build a footpath along the edge of the water.—Poultney Bigelow in Harper's.

Death Welcomed by the Russian Peasant.

Count Leo Tolstoi described to Octave Houdaille, who visited him at Jasnaja-Pojana, how a Russian peasant dies as follows:

Death is dark and terrible on the canvas of the painter, but here in the country it is almost a picture of mirth. I just came from a peasant's deathbed. The man knew that he must die, and his pain lasted several days, yet not once did his serenity of soul leave him. When death was quite near, and, as is customary, a wax taper was placed in his hand, his face assumed an expression of unutterable happiness. It seems strange to me after such a scene that I have felt so little emotion. Aside from all religious feeling, death is for these people a release from trouble, therefore all absence of the cloud of sorrow seen elsewhere. It is the peace, the slumber which the peasant has longed for in the depth of his misery, and the sorrow of living is over.

She Knew the Difference.

Mr. Topnoody is no lawyer, but his wife is an able woman. He was stumped in his reading the other evening and appealed to her.

"Are you up on Latin, my dear?" he asked.

"What do you want to know?" she inquired, with proper caution.

"I want to know the difference between de jure and de facto."

Mrs. T. studied a moment.

"Well," she said, "you are at the head of this family de jure."

"Yes," he put in, "I understand that."

"And," she concluded, with some vigor, "I am the head of it de facto."—Detroit Free Press.

WHAT DO I NEED?

A Quest on Which Comes Home To Us.

"What do I need? I am feeling nervous, tired, and without my old-time snap and vim."

These are the feelings of thousands at this time of year, during the change from Winter to Spring. They are run down with Spring Debility, or have over-worked and over-strained brain, nerves and system, and feel dull, without energy; do not eat and sleep well, liver and bowels become torpid. Above all there is that restless nervousness, sense of anxiety, strange sensations which plainly show that the nerves are not right. There is danger in these symptoms—the danger of nervous prostration, heart failure, paralysis or insanity.

The danger lies in neglect, however. Use Dr. Greene's Nervura, the great specific for these nervous diseases, when the first symptoms appear, and cure is sure. This wonderful discovery will calm, quiet and strengthen the nerves, immediately invigorates the brain, enriches the blood, and vitalizes the whole system. Purely vegetable and harmless. Druggists, $1.

"From the constant worry over business matters, I suffered from the loss of sleep, and became so nervous that I was entirely unfitted for business. In fact, I feared insanity. I used Dr. Greene's Nervura. The effect was almost magical. I could again sleep; mental composure, appetite and strength returned. Six bottles of this remedy cured me, and I have remained well to this date. I have recommended Dr. Greene's Nervura to many of my friends and neighbors, and have yet to learn of a failure to obtain good results.

S. W. NOURSE, Hudson, Mass."

Dr. Greene, the successful specialist, in curing all forms of nervous and chronic diseases, 34 Temple Pl., Boston, Mass., can be consulted free, personally or by letter. Call or write him about the case or send for symptom blank to fill out, and a letter fully explaining the disease, giving advice, etc., will be returned free.

Do not beware of imitations and substitutes. There is but one Wheat Germ; one grade; one quality. Every grocer has it.

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT

Thousands of Cures by our Belts are persons who have done so.

WITH NEW ELECTRIC SUSPENSORY.

New, Improved, Patented Appliance for Weakness of Men, Free with all Belts.

Patented.

More Belts Made and Sold and More Sufferers Cured than by all other Electric Belts combined.

The Crowning Triumph in Medico-Electrical Science. It cures all diseases curable by Electricity. It is a complete battery, as used by the foremost physicians, made into a Belt, so as to be easily worn during work, or at rest. It gives soothing, prolonged currents, which can be carried to any part of the body where there is pain, and will give instant relief, as Electricity permeates the entire system with a natural glowing heat, rejuvenating every weak organ or part of the body.

WEAK MEN

Suffering from Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, Drains, Losses, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Lame Back, Kidney or Bladder Troubles, or general ill health, resulting from over-taxation of brain or nerve force, abuses, excesses, worry or exposure, will find a speedy and permanent cure in this marvelous invention, which requires but a trial to convince the most skeptical. In your ignorance of effects or by excess, or exposure, you may have unduly drained your system of nerve force and vitality of Electricity—and thus caused your weakness or lack of force. If you replace into your system the elements thus drained, which are required for vigorous strength, you will remove the cause, and health, strength and vigor will follow at once and in a natural way. This is our plan and treatment.

Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt is no experiment, as we have restored thousands to robust health and vigor, after all other treatments failed, as can be shown by the hundreds of cases throughout this State, who would gladly testify, and from many of whom we have strong letters bearing testimony to their recovery after using our Belt.

Our 200 page book "Three Classes of Men," should be read by every young, middle-aged and old man, sent sealed, free. It explains our plan of treatment, gives testimonials from people in all stations in life and from all parts of the country, and very many in New York City, whom we have cured, thus showing our marvelous work. Do not delay writing for it. It will cost you nothing, and may be the means of a new life and health.

The Greatest Boon on Earth is Health and Vigorous Strength. It brings wealth, happiness and fruitful marriage.

GENERAL DEBILITY, &c.

OFFICE OF SARGENT & SON, DRY AND FANCY GOODS, ETC., CASTINE, Maine, Feb. 27, '91.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—I am glad to add my testimony to the many you have of the great value of your belt. My health has improved wonderfully, and I have gained twelve pounds of flesh, and now sleep well and have an excellent appetite. Your splendid electric belt with your "rules of health" has been a very valuable benefit to me, and I take pleasure in recommending your belt. Yours respectfully, WM. GEO. SARGENT.

RHEUMATISM—LOST VIGOR.

NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 20, '91.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—I can report to you that the belt has entirely cured me of rheumatism from which I suffered for fourteen years almost continuously. I am a letter carrier, and the long daily tramps necessary in my rounds, up to the time of getting the belt, were painfully gone through with, but thanks to your wonderful invention, I can now walk as well as I ever did, and will recommend your treatment to all afflicted as I was. The current has also brought back my vigor in other ways as you said it would. Yours very truly, JAMES MEAD, 21 Perry St.

PAINS IN CHEST, &c.

LYNN, Mass., June 6, '91.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—The belt I bought from you about two months ago has done for me all you said it would do; and a neighbor of mine, whom I lent the belt to, says it has cured him entirely from pains through the chest from which he was suffering. And now I will recommend your belt to each and every one who are in need of a good remedy. Yours truly, PER JOHANSON, 186 Union St.

NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED IN 30 DAYS.

KINGS BRIDGE, NEW YORK.

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—Yours of the 28th received. [illegible] worked entirely satisfactory and has cured me. After wearing the belt five nights I felt great relief, and after thirty days I did not have a symptom left. I have come to consider your belt as a family physician, and I owe many thanks to the inventor. You may say my nervousness is permanently cured in thirty days. I was a sufferer from nervous debility, and for two years I didn't know what a night's sleep was. I had lost ambition, I considered life a failure until one day I saw one of Dr. Sanden's Belts advertised in the paper, and I purchased one with the result. It changed my whole life; in five days I was feeling better and in thirty days I was permanently cured. I advise all humanity suffering from weakness or nervous complaints to use Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt, the best physician you could get. Your servant, [illegible]

NERVOUS DEBILITY, VARICOCELE CURED.

WEST LEBANON, Me. [illegible]

DR. A. T. SANDEN—Dear Sir—I want to give for publication what I think, as I look upon your belt as my best friend in my time of need. On the 1st day of April, 1891, I received one of your belts. The first week I was [illegible] belt it seemed to do me more harm than good, it made me feel [illegible] I was before using it. I wore the belt six hours every day. At the end of the second week I began to improve. I suffered mostly from weakness, general debility, varicocele, and kidney trouble. [illegible] my legs after me. At the end of the third week I had gained two pounds in weight, and just one month from the day I received the belt, I [illegible] was five pounds. At this writing I have made a total gain of fifteen and am well. I had been sick for two years, tried all kinds of [illegible] only got worse, and as a last resource I tried the belt made by the Sanden Electric Co., and it has done wonders for me. I recommend the Dr. Sanden Electric Belt as one of the best things ever invented. It speaks for itself. With many thanks, and wishing you the greatest success, I remain, Yours truly, ASHBEL A. [illegible]

Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt with Improved Electric Suspensory is the greatest boon ever given to weak men, and we warrant it to cure any of the above weaknesses, and to enlarge shrunken limbs, or parts, or Money Refunded. They are graded in the strength to meet all stages of weakness in young, middle-aged or old men, and will cure the worst cases in two or three months. Write for our book at once, sent sealed, free. Penobscot ss. At a Court of Probate held at Bangor, within and for said County of Penobscot, on the thirtieth day of January, A. D. 1892, being an adjourned session of the January Term, A. D., of said Court, Maria A. Gilman, named Executrix in a certain instrument purporting to be the last Will and Testament of Frank Gilman, late of Bangor, in said County, deceased, having presented the same for Probate.

Ordered, That said Executrix give public notice to all persons interested, by causing a copy of this Order to be published three weeks successively in the Bangor Daily Whig and Courier, a newspaper published in Bangor, in said County, that they may appear at a Court of Probate for said County, to be held at the Probate Office in said Bangor, on the last Tuesday in February next, at ten of the clock in the forenoon, and show cause, if any they have, why the same should not be proved, approved, and allowed as the last Will and Testament of said deceased.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED.

The Magazine will celebrate the fourth Centenary of the Discovery of America by its re-discovery, through articles giving a more thorough exposition than has hitherto been made of the recent Unprecedented Development of our Country, and especially in the Great West. Particular attention will also be given to Dramatic Episodes in American History.

The [illegible] the next European War will be described in a Series of Papers on the Danube, "From the Black Forest to the Black Sea," by Poultney Bigelow and F. D. Millet, illustrated by Mr. Millet and Alfred Parsons. Articles also will be given on the German, Austrian, and Italian Armies, illustrated by T. de Thulstrup.

Mr. W. D. Howells will contribute a novelette, "A world of Chance," characteristically American. Especial prominence will be given to Short Stories, which will be contributed by R. H. Davis, A. Conan Doyle, Margaret Deland, Miss Woolson, and other popular writers.

Among the literary features will be Reminiscences of Nathaniel Hawthorne by his college class-mate and life-long friend, Horatio Bridge, and a personal Memoir of the Brontës by Anne Thackeray Ritchie.

WHAT IS IT?

A substitute for lard? Upsetting the customs, habits, and prejudices of centuries? Yes, all this and more. Cottolene is a new cooking product—it is better than lard or butter for cooking, so say such noted housekeepers as Marion Harland, Catherine Owen, Mrs. S. T. Rorer, and many others; it is healthier—so says every thoughtful physician; and it is cheaper as every housekeeper knows when she finds that one-half the quantity answers every purpose.

COTTOLENE is the purest clarified cottonseed oil mixed with pure beef fat. It is the best cooking material ever devised for frying anything, and everything. It is easily digested and highly nutritious. Every New England housekeeper will praise Cottolene. Beware of imitations. Ask your grocer for the genuine Cottolene.
